Check from shabbos to shabbos to get more rentals options

► Tip: If you search from Shabbos to Shabbos, you get many more offers, some of them significantly cheaper. You can also arrive on Sunday, even early in the morning, and stay until Thursday evening or even Friday, since the booking covers the period from Shabbos to Shabbos. Normally, you only get access to the apartment in the afternoon and have to check out fairly early in the morning.

Imports of animal products are only permitted from EU member states, Iceland, Northern Ireland and Norway. It is prohibited to import animal products from other countries. ► Be careful when bringing meat into Switzerland, customs often checks luggage from Israel with dogs (before the suitcases are handed over to the passengers), to see if there is anything forbidden in it. Meat is confiscated and destroyed and you can get a fine.

Tips for Flight Booking

► Important advice:

if you book through a Booking agent website (like “Gotogate”, “Opodo”, “edreams”, “Lastminute” or “Skyscanner”, “Kiwi”), it is often very difficult to add extras like baggage or infants later on, or to get a refund in case of illness or flight cancellation.

However, if you book through a traditional travel agency or directly with the airline, customer service is much easier.

Furthermore, the price you see initially is sometimes not the price you end up paying.

► Money-Saving Tip:

Evening flights are often cheaper, as there may be no onward connections to the mountain resorts. In that case, consider spending the night near the airport. Both Geneva and Basel airports are located on the Swiss–French border and have separate exits to Switzerland and France. Simply follow the signs to the French exit and take a short taxi ride to your hotel.

Recommended locations:

- Geneva Airport – Ferney-Voltaire
- Basel Airport – Saint-Louis

Hotels can often be found on Booking.com for around €50 per night for two people, Taxi fares in France are generally reasonable, especially since these hotels are located very close to the airports.

Helpful English-speaking staff, usually with little or no waiting time. They can assist with timetables, travel information, bookings, and complaints.

Traintickets for Kids under the Age of 16
Children under the age of 16 traveling with a parent can purchase a Junior Travelcard at any train station (a passport-sized photo is required). The first two children cost CHF 30 each; any additional children receive the card free of charge. With the Junior Travelcard, children can travel free for an entire year on Switzerland's public transport network and on many mountain railways when accompanied by one of their parents. ► Occasionally, staff may mistakenly claim that the Junior Travelcard is available only to Swiss citizens. This is not the case—the card is also available to visitors and non-residents. If you encounter any confusion, it may be helpful to contact the railway company directly. Their customer service team is very helpful and speaks English: +41 848 446 688.

Very important information for mobile services:

The Swiss mobile phone providers switched off the 3G network, and therefore you will only be able to make calls using a 4G mobile phone.

(not every new Phone is 4G)

It is very hard to find in Switzerland a 4G non-smartphone.

Shabbos Fridge/Freezer Solution

If you're away for Shabbos and don't have a Shabbos mode on the fridge or freezer, there are two possibilities:

Older mechanical fridges/freezer:

Usually only the light is activated when the door opens. In many cases, removing the bulb or securing the door switch is sufficient.

Newer electronic fridges/freezer:

Opening the door may affect lights, fans, displays, and other systems. These fridges use a magnetic sensor to detect whether the door is open or closed. A special thin, high-strength magnet can be placed on the fridge (in the correct location) so that it always registers the door as closed.

These magnets are also very useful for freezers, which often do not have a Shabbos mode.

Please order in advance. The magnets are supplied at cost price and shipped from Switzerland. Delivery by a Shliach from there to Israel or maybe by post to your Vacation Place.

Contact: benjamin.halonbrenner@gmail.com

Other magnets may work, but they must be both thin enough to allow the door to close properly and strong enough to activate the sensor.
